Text

May yt please your Lordships; In a late lettre written from your Lordships I am expressly required (as by direction from her Maiestie that of the threasure then assigned for this land 15000^{li} should bee converted onely to pay bandes & other companies discharged & to bee cassed & not to other vses without apparaunt necessitie, & the residue 5 being but 5000^{li} to bee imprested to the Souldieres contynuinge still in service and to answeere all other growing charges; For my part conferring now with the Councill vpon th'arrivall of the threasure which way her Maiesties said direccion might bee performed and this poore miserable Army somewhat comforted And fynding 10 by informacion of the Threasurer, how farre his word & credit is engaged for great Summes, to bee repayed vpon th'arrivall of this threasure, of the which the most were borrowed in ready money vpon vrgent necessity of the service, & the rest rysing for pro- 15 visions bought with the dewes to some poore Townes, that to their vtter vndoing (without payment) haue borne the fynding of the Soldier (in which number especially Maryburgh & Philipstowne may bee reckoned) I see not (without borrowing somewhat of the said direccion{ } how th'one of these ij extremities might bee avoyded, either the Souldieres to bee lefte to a hazard of mutinie & disorder (which 20 hethervnto hath bene with great difficultie prevented) or elles the Threasureres word & credit to bee broken, which sure cannot but bring many inconveniences to the service, which is seeldome without necessitie of borrowing, besides his particulare discomfort.
Therefore yf for the preventing of these evilles, & not to make 25 desperate the hope of the Souldieres, that haue so long expected

I bee driven to apply to theis vses some 3000^{li} of the said Sum restreyned, yt may please* your Lordships in acquainting her Maiestie with our extremities to bee a meane that her Highnes interprete me not to doe any thing therein in contempt or neglect of her Maiesties will & Commaundement, but as compelled by the very force & nature of the present necessities here. for truly vpon casting downe the money for the present pay, and dividing the same into shares and portions, wee fynde that impresting one monethes pay to the garrizons in Leynster & Vlster, with my self & the other Chief Officeres, without relieving the other remote partes the whole remayne of the said 5000^{li} will not suffice the said Allottement, and yett the Souldier neither clothed, nor his credit answered, which bee ij Aduersities so great and daungerous, as how farre they may tempt and provoke men so long discontented, I leave to your Lordships to discern & iudg, being for myne owne part so ouerpestered with the claymoures of the Army, (which I cannott but confesse to bee iust) & followed still with other Crosses, which I see this gouernement cannott eschew that I must more & more importune your Lordships to move her Maiestie for my revocacion, and to make choyce of some other whome her Highnes thincketh better hable to menage and weeld so great a burden and Crosse. And so I Committ your Lordships to the goodnes of th'Almighty. At Dublin, the third of Ianuary. 1581./

Your Lordships assured to Commaund,

Arthur Grey

The address and the text of the letter are in Spenser's familiar secretary hand. The signature is Grey's usual italic mark. The endorsement, in a later hand, was probably added when the letter was filed in London.
