Text

As I haue bene accustomed to declare my griefes vnto my frendes & therevpon to crave their frendly assistaunce the same course I now follow vnto you, which I trust to bee of my chiefest frendes, as alwaies I fownd you. So yt is now a dayes that vniustly I poore Edward Butler sonne 5 to the late Iames earle of Ormond & Ossory am expulsed out of such inheritaunce, as the said Earle my father lefte me, & also out of such landes, as I haue purchaced in fee or otherwise, I am also spoiled of such my goodes as her Maiesties enemyes haue not taken from me, my death is sought by my 10 neighboures, A sort of traitourly develles, I do meane the Archbishop & Kenedies; the one of them is a periured turnecote and the rest a sort of traitoures & traiterous budes. I cannot for shame lay downe the vnkynd dealinges of thearle my brother although he sought to misvse me & to make me a banished 15 man & also my death. The inheritaunce & purchase above mencioned his Lordship tooke from me, but he neuer had servaunt kinsman or brother, that euer stood him in better stead in ouerthrowing his enemies & defending of his cuntry & doing that as should bee to his proffitt then I, my brother 20 Edmond onely excepted. You would scarce beleeeve what iniuries I receive of thArchbishop & Kenedeies, & howe shamefully they are for brybes borne out against me. The Archbishop doth seeke to banish my self & my people out of the cuntry with threathning or taking of goodes wrongfully 25 from vs, & seeking by all naughty meanes my hindaunce to satisfy his cancred mynd: he is a fitter Captein for doges & Devell then for Christian people he hath led my brother Sir Edmond hether to burne my house about myne eares as he threathned he would, he procured a warrant from my 30 Lord my brother to take this house from me, & direccion therevpon to my brother Edmond to assist the Sheriff in executing of the same, my brother sending to me, willing me to avoid the towne I desyred respitt of ij monethes, to carry my stuffe with me here hence & offred to my brother a pawne worth vij^C{^{li}} 35 for deliuering of the towne at ij monethes end, which was denyed by my brother the Archbishop & Kenedeyes: the sayd Archbishop & Sherief sought after that to assault & fyre my hous, were yt not for feare they should lose thereby more then they 40 might gayne, my brother left me without taking any order for my security, notwithstanding my seuerall lettres sent vnto him for the same So therefore I am to beesech you to bee a meane to my very good Lord the Lord Deputy for to receive me to his Honours tuicion with my goodes landes & such my men as I shall give 45 the Gouvernour notice of their names, & a lettre to my brother Edmond to lett me cary such stuffe & thinges as I brought hether & caused to be brought, and they from henceforth lett me live in quiett. Then I shall thinck my self greatly bownd vnto my Lord & I shalbe hable to give attendaunce to serve against her Maiesties enemies. Shew my grief & petitions to my Cosen Mr 50 Zowch, & I know I shall not want his assistaunce in any thing to doe me good. So committing my self to my Lords tuicion I leave to trouble you any further with my harty Commen- dations the xxiiijth of March -1581

Your loving poore frend 55
Edward Butler

Good Mr Waterhouse I must leave the countrey vnlesse my Lord Deputy doe take some order for my security, there is no man that would putt vp these iniuries I receive but my self. I would sufficiently revenge these thinges, were 60 yt not for feare I should be thought to behave my self in any vnduetifull sort. they could vse no Rebell worse then they doe vse me. I will prove the Archbishop & viij of the Chiefest of the Kenedeyes to bee Traitoures before the Gouvernour but in the liberty Court I will say no- 65 thing, for that there the Sheriff & otheres for money & kyne will sett them at liberty, although they nor that Court haue nothing to deale in these thinges without her Maiesties Commissioneres. Commend me I pray you to your bedfellow.

Note on hands

This letter is written in Spenser's characteristic secretary hand. The single endorsement is apparently in Spenser's italic hand, here quite cursive, while the reproduction of Butler's signature is in his more careful italic hand.
